CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS AT BETHAVEN

Henry Mertens, Western District Manager for Central Maine Power Company, was the speaker at the April 5th meeting of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce. Twenty-five members and guests were present.

Mr. Mertens stated that there are some 35 power companies in Maine, 34 of them investor owned. CMPCo. has 16,000 stockholders in Maine.

The largest companies are Central Maine Power Co., Bangor Hydro-Electric Co., and Central Maine Service, the latter operating in the region of Presque Isle. CMPCo. serves an area about the size of Massachusetts with a population about the size of the city of Boston. This illustrates the fact that CMPCo. is faced with the maintenance of relatively long lines, and in many places finding relatively small electrical loads.

By means of colored slides the C. of C. members were taken on an airplane trip, looking down on the water storage areas of the Androscoggin, Kennebec, and Saco Rivers showing the dams, and hydro-electric generating stations, which provide a large part of the electricity used in Southwestern Maine factories, mills and homes. Steam generating stations, and a number of the larger Maine industrial plants were also shown,—all of which added up to a very interesting and informative meeting.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY REPORTS DISPOSITION OF 1959 PROCEEDS

This is to report that the proceeds of the Rumford Hospital Auxiliary Charity Ball 1959 have been used as follows:

Electrodyne Model TR-3	$295.00
Electrodyne Model #33	285.00
Cardiac Defibrillator	271.00
E & J Combination Cardiac Monitor with R-Tach and Pulse Pick-up	147.50
Mira Oxygen Analyzer	17.50
20 Foot Sanborn EKG Cable	$1116.00

The balance will be expended for adaptors, installation, and augmentation of these instruments. This whole set-up relates basically to modern trends relating to anesthesia and operating room techniques. Three hospitalettes amounting to $350 have been donated by the Bethel Auxiliary of the Rumford Community Hospital which now makes a completely outfitted nursery.

Sam T. Smith, who has been a patient in the Chelsea Naval Hospital several months following an automobile accident, writes that he expects to be fitted with an artificial leg next week. He is now making good progress, but is still handicapped by partial paralysis of the right hand.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

As the season for home building, alterations and repairs is at hand, your attention is called to paragraph 2, Section VIII of the Zoning Ordinances, which requires a building permit. Painting or shingling a roof does not require a permit, but adding a porch, or major renovations to either the interior or exterior requires a permit, as well as installing a bath room or heating plant. Anyone planning any repairs to their property should first check at the Town Office to see if a permit is required. In any instance there is no charge if a permit is required.

Arrangements have been made with the night officer, Joseph Perry, if he is needed between the hours of 8 p. m. and 4 a. m. to phone his residence VA 4-2569. The call will be received by Mrs. Perry who will leave the porch light on to attract Mr. Perry's attention as he makes his rounds, so that he may receive the message and respond to the call.

The season of muddy roads is now with us. Several roads are worse this year than for several years, due to the frost leaving rapidly and continued fog and rain. The roads that are giving trouble have never had very much gravel applied and are the so-called dead end roads, such as Chandler Hill Road, Albert Skillings' Road, Rabbit Road and road to residence of Walter Emery. Requests have been made for gravel, but there are two principal reasons why this cannot be done. First the pits are located on roads posted by the State, and the town would be in violation of the law in trucking over a posted road as well as an individual trucker. Second reason if it was possible to truck the gravel, where the road is soft, more damage would be done than good accomplished.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

KNOW WHAT YOU'RE VOTING FOR

Newsweek, in urging all citizens to vote, says: "If you can spend a few minutes each day using hair tonic to save your hair, can't you spend a few minutes each year at the polls to save your scalp?"

Every vote is important. Many elections have been decided by a mere handful of votes. And, in instance after instance, this has amounted to election by minority—for the reason that only half the qualified voters or less troubled to go to the polls.

Another thing needs to be added. An ignorant vote is as bad or worse than no vote at all. Study the candidates and their platforms. Consider their integrity, character, sincerity. Measure their ideas in and the traditions and principles on which the American system of government has been built.

Yes, vote—in every election, minor or major, that is open to you. And make sure it is an informed vote.

Mountain Driving Isn't Hard

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

Don't let mountain driving frighten you if you are looking for a trip through some of the country's most spectacular scenery.

Mountain driving isn't difficult for the experienced driver. Mountain roads may look narrow to you, but that's because of the immense country above and below. There is just as much space between the center line and the edge of a modern mountain road as there is on a flat one.

And don't worry about the steepness—all new mountain roads are built so that any modern American car can climb them in high gear.

Here are a few tricks that will help you around some of the bends and curves:

• Stay in the lower gears on the downgrade. Never coast down a grade with the car in neutral.

• Don't be caught with nearly empty gasoline tank. Gas stations usually are fewer and farther between and cars use more gas than usual.

• Check your temperature gauge frequently. Do not remove the radiator cap unless the gauge shows overheating. When you do add water, do it carefully. Let the engine run after you've stopped until the "rumbling" stops, then put a heavy rag over the radiator cap and turn it slowly. Add the water slowly, letting the engine idle.

• If you've reached the summit of a mountain pass with an overheated radiator and no water is available, don't panic—the radiator will cool rapidly by itself once you start the downgrade. Later, when you find water you can add it easily to your cooled engine.

• Always set your hand brake and put the car in gear, even if the parking spot appears to be flat.

• And finally, courtesy is a must when driving through the mountains. If you are driving on the inside of the road, keep as far to your right as possible. If you are on the outside, relax, watch the center line and keep to your right, and never mind the scenery. Make frequent stops for sightseeing.

The first American motor vehicle was demonstrated in Philadelphia in 1805. Called the "Orukter Amphibolos," or "amphibious digger," this 40,000-pound monster was a combination steam wagon and flatboat. World Book Encyclopedia says it was built by Oliver Evans to help dredge Philadelphia's harbor.

Leonard, associate professor of animal science at the University again headed the Farm and Home Week Committee which arranged the successful program.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

Editor
Oxford County Citizen
Bethel, Maine

I have been, following, with much interest, the letters appearing in your paper relative to the school issue and especially to the teacher situation. Bethel is a growing community as evidenced by our increased population of nearly 350 during the past ten years so that as of June 1959 there were nearly 2367 of us. Therefore, it would appear that towns of comparative size would range more nearly from 1617 to 3117 given the same span of approximately 1600, as used in the letter of 3-25-60.

Of the five towns cited as being typical it would seem that only Vassalboro (2261), Thomaston (2810), and Eastport (3123) would be of interest to us if we are stressing size only in our comparisons. Dover-Foxcroft has a current population of 4218 and Searsport only 1457. Also, I couldn't quite follow being so restrictive as to use only the towns who are not maintaining a public high school.

Our current interest is in our ELEMENTARY school system. The average salary for Bethel for these teachers may possibly be lower than in some areas of similar size but that may be due, in part, to the fact that we have a high percentage of teachers with a minimum of training. Of the 20.4 teachers almost half (nine) have had less than two years training.

Barring no sudden jerks in the salary scale for changes our average salary for this coming year will be $3726.00—the salaries ranging from $3040.00 to the maximum of $4360.00.

Adequate comparisons can be difficult as there are many more factors to be considered than just the figures in a given salary scale. However, evaluating our own situation has brought out that regardless of the size, wealth and location our new salary scale is such that should promote the best there is for the training and education of our children—we are paying for it.

Editorial

School problems, which are always puzzling and controversial, are not peculiar to Bethel or Maine. While the editor has opinions which have not been aired in these columns, we agree with many—including some teachers—that salaries are high enough at present. There seems to be not much sense in a simple race to be near the top in the state's and nation's pay list. Although local conditions seem to be good, we do not think they are above criticism, but we had our opportunity last month in voting for appropriations and a school committee member. These columns are open as always for readers' views, but it would seem that further anonymous opinions can serve no good purpose.

RETIREMENT INCOME CREDIT

Taxpayers who received retirement income during 1959 may be entitled to a "retirement income credit" on their Federal income tax return. Whitney L. Wheeler, Director of Internal Revenue for the Augusta District, reminded taxpayers.

He explained: "The so-called 'retirement income credit' is computed in Schedule K on page 4 of return Form 1040, and can be as much as $240 for each taxpayer. This in effect means an additional exemption from tax on $1,200 income at the lowest tax rate of 20 per cent.

"To qualify for the retirement income credit, you must have received earned income in excess of $600 in each of any ten calendar years prior to 1959. If husband and wife meet this test, and each has retirement income, each may

INTEREST AND CARRYING CHARGES

Special rules apply to interest deductions on Federal income tax returns. Whitney L. Wheeler, Director of Internal Revenue for Augusta District, notes:

Taxpayers may deduct interest paid on personal debts, he said, including interest on bank loans and home mortgages.

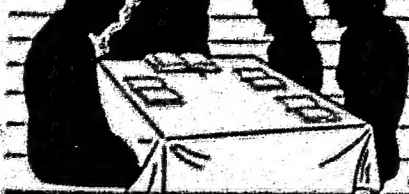

Mr. Wheeler continued: "You can also deduct a portion of so-called 'carrying charges' paid on installment purchases of personal property such as automobiles, television sets, etc., where the carrying charges are separately stated but interest is not. The deduction allowed is six percent of the average unpaid monthly balance on the installment purchase.

"You can compute the average unpaid monthly balance by adding the unpaid balance at the beginning of each month and dividing the total by 12. "Sometimes money is borrowed on a discount basis. That is the interest is subtracted in advance and you sign a note for an amount larger than you receive. If you use the cash method of accounting, you may deduct this discount as interest only as you pay the note."

He added, however, that taxpayers cannot deduct interest paid on money borrowed to buy tax-exempt securities or single premium life insurance, nor interest paid on behalf of another person unless the taxpayer was legally liable to pay it.

Chelupper Room
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, April 7

Read Romans 12:16-21
All things work together for good to them that love God. (Romans 8:28).

Consider a good man who is terribly discouraged because of constant troubles. Confronted with problems one upon another, he begins to feel that life is against him. This depression poisons his disposition. He is well on the way to feeling that the future is hopeless.

Then one day some words of Paul come to him, with a persistence that will not be denied. He recalls that Paul had much to bear during his life as a Christian—enough to make him feel utterly discouraged and disappointed with life. Yet Paul could write, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

"If Paul believed that, so must I," that good man says.

to himself. "In fact, I will."

God knows how discouraged we can become when life becomes difficult. But we can live and labor in the assurance that God never deserts us. Working in Christ's spirit, we can solve all our problems in accordance with God's will.

PRAYER: Eternal Father, how thankful we are that Thou art familiar with our human needs and social problems. Help us to believe that when we bring our problems to Thee in prayer Thou art waiting to help us, through Jesus Christ our Lord. We pray in His name. Amen.

MAN'S RECIPE

SUNNY ACRES BEEF STEW
You are too young to remember the Iron Kettle Era, but along about 1912 when I was 11 years old, Mother had a heavy iron kettle that sat in a hole above the kitchen fire when the stove cover was removed. The kettle may have held about six quarts. It was a cumbersome thing with four short, stubby legs, so the kettle could sit on a flat surface when not in a hole cover.

I can't make my beef stew in an iron kettle of this calibre, but this formula suits Blanche and me—and friends and neighbors. It is one of the most popular in County Flavor Cookbook—especially with the men.

Use two and a half pounds of lean beef in half to three-fourths inch cubes, four beef bouillon cubes, one large bay leaf two tablespoons salt, one fourth teaspoon pepper, one eighth teaspoon oregano, one fourth teaspoon parsley flakes, one eighth teaspoon thyme, one medium green pepper cut fine, one medium onion sliced thin, six carrots in small pieces, six medium potatoes in cubes, three fourths cup flour for thickening.

Bring one quart water to boil in kettle. Dissolve the beef cubes in another two cups boiling water, and add this to kettle. Seal beef in its own fat in large spider, and put beef in kettle with the salt, pepper, herbs, green pepper and onion. Simmer this for two hours. Add cubed potatoes and cut up carrots. Simmer one hour more. During last 30 minutes add the three fourths cup flour to enough water to make a smooth paste.

You ought to make this and then let it simmer overnight and have it for dinner the next day. And soon stew or chowder is better after a period of cold meditation.

Three taxes had been promptly paid by all of her employees, but they claimed the full amount as a 100 per cent penalty for her failure to deduct. Upon Miss Kellems' refusal to pay this penalty, the agents, CARLYNG NO COURT ORDER, went to her bank and intimidated its officers into surrendering out of her account the full amount of $1,685.40.

Miss Kellems continued NOT to deduct from her employees, and in August, 1949, the agents returned demanding $6,160 as a penalty, again despite the fact that every dollar of income tax had been paid promptly directly to the Federal Government by her employees. Again Miss Kellems refused to pay the penalty, whereupon they seized the $6,160 from her bank account.

Miss Kellems demanded a refund which was refused. She filed a claim with the Federal District Court in New Haven in January, 1960, and in February, 1961, finally secured a trial. The Court ordered a refund of the $1,685.40 and $6,160, which had been seized illegally from her bank ac-

COUNTRY FLAVOR

ROLLING DRUMS

The cock partridge is a noble bird. He is handsome and chunky with a dark ruff around his neck that accentuates his bright, beady eyes. Somewhere the countryman thinks of Napoleon when he sees the bird strutting proudly along a leafy woodland floor.

While Earth warms and green strands return to the grass carpet on fields and hill-sides, partridges are drumming in the woodland. On a sunny day when the countryman is mending pasture fence, the reverberating drum calls come from the woods and echo from one woodland patch to another.

The partridge may drum in all seasons of year, but it is most noticeable in early spring when the birds are thinking of housekeeping. Contrary to general belief, the drumming is not caused by the wings striking the body, but by the concussion of air adjacent to the body as the wings are moved with tremendous force and speed.

The partridge is a woodland bird and a year-round inhabitant. In harsh winter weather, it digs into snow to survive a blizzard. In winter it lives on buds, but in summer it eats bugs and insects as well as grass and succulent plants. The female makes her nest on the ground and broods from 10 to 15 white-brown eggs marked with dark streaks. A mother partridge with a brood of small, bright-eyed chicks is one of Nature's appealing pictures.

Now as spring advances, it is the cock who is the center of attention. He surveys the woodland scene like an emperor. He spreads his barred tail and lifts his ruff. He lifts his head and with imperial eye glances about. He lifts his wings and for a few seconds, the drum roll sounds. A man goes back to his fence mending. Spring is here when the drums echo over the fields.

But the matter of the constitutionality of the Withholding Tax was not tested. It still in 1960, remains untested. The one way to get rid of this unconstitutional Withholding Tax is to get rid of its parent, the personal income tax. This can be accomplished by getting behind the 23rd Amendment, originated by our associate, Willis E. Stone. This Amendment in its Section 4 says: "Congress shall not levy taxes on personal income, inheritances, and/or gifts."

And now another voice has been added against serving the Government without pay. We quote a letter written by A. G. Heinsohn, Jr., President, Cherokee Textile Mills, Sevier, Tenn.; and Chairman, Tennessee Independence, on March 25, 1960, to Congressmen Carroll Reece and Howard Baker. The letter should be itself, requiring no comment from us. It reads:

"Since I pay taxes in two districts this is a joint letter. "On a tract of cut-over land

"Queen of Snows" Recommends N.E. Winter for Health and Good Looks

"New England winters are wonderful," says Carmen Michelle, Swiss-born singer who participated in the North American Winter Festival at Lake Placid this month.

Miss Michelle, who has been on skates and skis almost from the time she could walk, says she makes six to ten ski trips into the Adirondacks, Green Mountains and White Mountains every winter. She recommends the invigorating air in this area for health and for good looks. "The cold, fresh sparkling air gives your skin a youthful, healthy glow. It tones you up and gives you pep and energy you never knew you had."

Carmen, one of America's new singing discoveries, has sung in all the capitals of Europe, and in many U.S. cities since she came to this country. The Winter Festival has honored Miss Michelle by naming her "Queen of the Snows" this year. Eugenio Monti, her "King," is world's champion bobsledder. Mayor Robert Wagner of New York was "Archbishop" of the festival this year.

Capital Expenditures—A Survey For 1960

Since World War II we have had what is called a "rolling economy" by some observers; that is, an economy in which different segments have thrived during different years. This year, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board Index for Industrial Production, the economy is expected to reach a new peak and the key industries which will make new production records are steel and iron and capital goods.

The present analysis is divided into two parts: First, we have analyzed what industries appear to have the greatest confidence for the intermediate future as indicated by their present capital expenditures and, secondly, we have selected some companies whose common stocks we feel are attractive and will be chief beneficiaries of new plant and equipment expenditures.

A recent survey reveals that of industries whose quarterly capital expenditures have increased the most percentage-wise from a year ago and whose year-end backlog of funds available for plant and equipment expenditures have also increased are rubber and chemical industries. This would indicate that both of these industries have great confidence in what lies ahead in their particular areas of the economy and therefore in all probability selected common stocks from these groups are attractive. The favorite rubber stock is U. S. Rubber, while there are two favorite chemical stocks—Allied Chemical and Union Carbide.

Our next task is to select some companies whose stocks appear attractive and will benefit from the capital expansion program in 1960. In the past, the machine tool industry has generally been regarded as a prime beneficiary of any capital expansion program but at this time we take exception to this premise. Statistical data will bear us out as we find that in the non-electrical machinery industry, an important part of which is made up of machine tools, fourth quarter appropriations had a sharp drop percentage-wise from a year ago of any industry in the backlog of funds available for expansion. This lack of confidence on the part of the industry is further substantiated by the fact that in 1960 neither new orders for machine tools will closely approach the 1951-53 and 1955-56 nor will shipments approach the 1951-57 years. Obviously there will be exceptions in special situations, but we do not feel common stocks in the machine tool companies are a particularly good medium for investing in the capital goods boom.

Of the capital goods stocks we feel that Gleason-Knox is the most attractive. This is not only concerned with the steel industry which will be the largest dollar spender for capital goods in 1960, but also makes equipment for chemical, construction, food processing and public utility industries.

Other capital goods stocks which are not related to any particular industry which we feel are attractive for 1960 are: Black & Decker, Link Belt and Worthington.

Principal suppliers to the public utility industry, which has consistently been one of the most important and steady contributors to the capital expansion program, are Babcock & Wilcox and Combustion Engineering, leading producers of generating equipment.

It should be pointed out that the capital expenditure program is one that can only be touched on lightly in the space allowed, but we feel it should be one of the most dynamic contributors to the 1960 business boom with record expenditures for $37-billion anticipated.

refreshment committee was Marie Swan, Louise Billings and Shirley Buck. The girls are to bring some material to sew on at the next meeting, to be held at the Leader's home on April 13. Sandra Buck, Norman Swan and Eddie Rosenberg will give demonstrations at the next meeting. The refreshment committee will be Priscilla Cary, Joy Emmons and Eddie Rosenberg. We donated to the Red Cross.

CHEVY! YOU CAN'T BUY ANY CAR FOR LESS
...UNLESS IT'S A LOT LESS CAR!

Anyone who's looked around knows the majority of Chevrolet models—6's and V8's together—list for less than comparable models of other low-priced cars. But the price tag alone is only one of a whole raft of reasons a Chevy does better by your dollars.

Nothing near Chevy's size and price can match the Full Coil cushioning of its ride, or the fine, finished workmanship of its body by Fisher. That even applies to some cars that cost a lot more. You're up in the higher price brackets before you find a car that moves as quietly as a Chevrolet or offers the inner space that Chevrolet does.

Or look at the extras Chevy gives you—at no extra cost—that others in its class can't offer at any price. Shock-cushioned steering. Safety Plate Glass in every window. Keyless locking of all doors. Crank-operated vent windows. Chevrolet offers the widest choice of power teams, too. Drive a Chevy just once. You'll have a tough time settling for anything less.

TO PASS OR NOT TO PASS

The flexibility of automobile travel, which allows you to pass other vehicles on the road and to turn off the highway whenever you like, constitutes one of the greatest advantages of traveling by motor car. Even when other means of transportation are used it usually is an automobile that finally carries a passenger to his exact destination.

When one motorist passes another he exposes himself to the danger of oncoming traffic. This danger threatens not only himself but his passengers, and the drivers and passengers in the other vehicles involved. Therefore, his decision to pass or not to pass may suddenly become the most important decision of a driver's lifetime. Remembering the following four simple tips on passing may some day save your life.

1. Make sure there is plenty of clear distance ahead.
2. Make sure nobody is coming up fast from behind.
3. Make sure the fellow ahead intends to hold his lane.
4. If in doubt... DON'T PASS.

Chuck and Claire debated the following schools with these results:

Brunswick—lost 72-74

Merry and Stan debated the following schools:
St. Dominics—lost 60-61

Teachers Talk on Certification
Western Maine teachers discussed proposed changes in the certification regulations at a meeting Wednesday at Gould Academy. The meeting is sponsored by the Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards of the Maine Teachers Association.

The teachers discussed issues that are now being considered by the Advisory Committee on Certification formed by the State Department of Education. The committee, which has been studying the problem for more than a year, is expected to make recommendations soon to the State Board of Education.

Discussion topics included the educational requirements for certification, the college programs needed for special area teachers, practice teaching requirements, the question of academic specialization for elementary teachers, subject certification, in-service education, the amount of control that the teaching profession should exercise over certification.

Edmond Vachon, a member of the TEPS committee and headmaster of Gould Academy, was in charge of the meeting.
